

Instructions to Authors

Aviation Psychology and Applied Human Factors

Official Organ of the European Association for Aviation Psychology (EAAP) and the Australian Aviation Psychology Association (AAvPA)

Aims and scope

Aviation Psychology and Applied Human Factors (APAHF) publishes innovative, original, high-quality applied research covering all aspects of the aerospace domain. In order to make the journal accessible to both practitioners and scientific researchers, the contents are broadly divided into original scientific research articles and papers for practitioners.

Aviation Psychology and Applied Human Factors publishes the following types of articles

Original Articles, APAHF in Practice, Research Notes, Book Reviews, News and Announcements.

The fully peer-reviewed Original Articles cover a variety of methodological approaches, ranging from experimental surveys to ethnographic and observational research, from those psychological and human factors disciplines relevant to the field, including social psychology, cognitive psychology, and ergonomics. High-quality critical review articles and meta-analyses cover particular topics of current scientific interest.

Shorter studies are published as Research Notes.

APAHF in Practice consists of shorter, less technical, but still fully peer-reviewed articles covering a wide range of topics, such as comments on incidents and accidents, innovative applications of aviation psychology, and reviews of best practices in industry.

Book Reviews present recently published books of particular interest.

Finally, the journal's News and Announcements section features information about past and upcoming events around the world, association news, interviews, and similar.

Manuscript preparation

Address for Submissions: Submissions for any section of APAHF must be sent to the journal's e-mail address journal@eaap.net.

Submission Letter: Manuscripts must be accompanied by a formal letter of submission addressed to the Editor in Chief confirming that: (a) the manuscript has not been published previously (and is not under consideration for another journal); (b) the manuscript is being submitted with the agreement of all authors; and (c) all participants and their data were treated in accordance with appropriate ethical guidelines.

Enquiries and Help: Should you have any technical queries regarding this process, please contact Dr. Michaela Schwarz (admin@eaap.net). Informal enquiries concerning the content and format of papers should be addressed to

Types and lengths of manuscripts

Original Articles are scientific papers with a maximum of 6,000 words (including references), based on any methodological approach (e.g., experimental surveys; ethnographic research; observational research) and from any psychological/human factors discipline (e.g., social psychology; cognitive psychology; ergonomics). High-quality critical review articles or meta-analyses covering a particular topic of current scientific interest are of particular interest.

Research Notes are scientific papers with a maximum of 3,000 words (including references), and no more than 1 figure, 2 tables, and 12 references.

APAHF in Practice papers are shorter than scientific papers (maximum of 4,000 words including references), and may cover a range of topics, including (but not limited to): comment on incidents and accidents; innovative applications of aviation psychology; reviews of best practice in industry. They should be written in a more accessible (less technical) style and may be more liberally illustrated with diagrams and pictures.

Original Articles, Research Notes, and APAHF in Practice papers are all subject to double-blind peer review.

News and Announcements pieces are brief and informal.

General: All manuscripts should be prepared in accordance with the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association 6th ed. (APA Manual). A free tutorial about APA style is available at <http://www.apastyle.org/learn/tutorials/basics-tutorial.aspx>.

Anonymization: Original Articles, Research Notes, and APAHF in Practice papers will undergo double-blind peer review. Authors should therefore remove all potentially identifying information from the submitted manuscript, replacing names and any indication of the institution where a study was conducted by neutral placeholders. Upon acceptance, this information must of course be reinstated.

Title Page: To facilitate blind reviewing, the title page of the submitted manuscript should include only the paper's title and running head. A second title page including all author information should be submitted as a separate document. This should include the title; author name(s); affiliation(s); and an address for correspondence (including the name of the corresponding author with e-mail and phone numbers).

Abstract / Keywords: An abstract (maximum length 120 words) should be printed on a separate sheet for Original Articles, Research Notes, and APAHF in Practice papers. A maximum of 5 keywords should be given after the abstract.

References: Citations in the text and in the reference list should follow conventions listed in the APA Manual.

Author biographies: After acceptance, authors will be asked to provide a brief biography (up to 50 words) and a portrait photo of each author. Author pictures must be submitted in minimum size 5 x 5 cm and in high resolution (300 dpi).

Tables / Figures: Table and figures should be numbered separately using Arabic numerals and must all be cited in the text (e.g., “As shown in Table 1, . . .” – “As can be seen in Figure 1, . . .”). Each figure and each table should be printed on a separate sheet. Each table should have a brief descriptive title; this should then be followed by the body of the table. Longer explanations, if required, should be included in a footnote to the table. Figures must be supplied in a form suitable for reproduction: preferably high-resolution bitmaps (e.g., jpg, 300 dpi for color artwork, 150 dpi for grayscale artwork) and accompanied by a legend. Figures may be reproduced in color in the online journal, but will normally be reproduced in black/white or grayscale only in the printed journal, which authors should take into consideration when designing figures.

Scientific Nomenclature and Style: Authors should follow the guidelines of the APA Manual regarding style and nomenclature. Authors should avoid using masculine generic forms in their manuscripts. General statements about groups of people should be written in gender-neutral form (see APA Manual, pp. 73–74); when presenting examples, authors may alternate between female and male forms throughout their text.

Language: It is recommended that authors who are not native speakers of English have their papers checked and corrected by a native-speaker colleague before submission. Standard USAmerican spelling and punctuation as given in Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary should be followed.

Proofs

PDF proofs will be sent to the corresponding author. Changes of content or stylistic changes may only be made in exceptional cases in the proofs. Corrections that exceed 5% of the typesetting costs may be invoiced to the authors.

Offprints and free copies

Hogrefe will send the corresponding author of each accepted paper free of charge an e-offprint (PDF) of the published version of the paper when it is first released online. This e-offprint is provided for the author's personal use, including for sharing with coauthors (see also "Guidelines on sharing and use of articles in Hogrefe journals" on the journal's web page at www.hogrefe.com/j/apahf).

For each article, the corresponding author will receive a total of 5 free copies of the issue in which his/her article appears, to be shared with any coauthors. Additional copies may be requested against payment; such requests should be made, at the latest, when returning the corrected proofs.

Publication ethics

The journal and its editors adhere to, and expect its authors to adhere to, the Committee on Publication Ethics (COPE) standards (<http://publicationethics.org>).

Copyright agreement

By submitting an article, the author confirms and guarantees on behalf of him-/herself and any co-authors that the manuscript has not been submitted or published elsewhere, and that he or she holds all copyright in and titles to the submitted contribution, including any figures, photographs, line drawings, plans, maps, sketches, and tables, and that the article and its contents do not infringe in any way on the rights of third parties. The author indemnifies and holds harmless the publisher from any third-party claims.

The author agrees, upon acceptance of the article for publication, to transfer to the publisher the exclusive right to reproduce and distribute the article and its contents, both physically and in nonphysical, electronic, or other form, in the journal to which it has been submitted and in other independent publications, with no limitations on the number of copies or on the form or the extent of distribution. These rights are transferred for the duration of copyright as defined by international law. Furthermore, the author transfers to the publisher the following exclusive rights to the article and its contents:

1. The rights to produce advance copies, reprints, or offprints of the article, in full or in part, to undertake or allow translations into other languages, to distribute other forms or modified versions of the article, and to produce and distribute summaries or abstracts.
2. The rights to microfilm and microfiche editions or similar, to the use of the article and its contents in videotext, teletext, and similar systems, to recordings or reproduction using other media, digital or analog, including electronic, magnetic, and optical media, and in multimedia form, as well as for public broadcasting in radio, television, or other forms of broadcast.

3. The rights to store the article and its content in machine-readable or electronic form on all media (such as computer disks, compact disks, magnetic tape), to store the article and its contents in online databases belonging to the publisher or third parties for viewing or downloading by third parties, and to present or reproduce the article or its contents on visual display screens, monitors, and similar devices, either directly or via data transmission.
4. The rights to reproduce and distribute the article and its contents by all other means, including photo-mechanical and similar processes (such as photocopying or facsimile), and as part of so-called document delivery services.
5. The right to transfer any or all rights mentioned in this agreement, as well as rights retained by the relevant copyright clearing centers, including royalty rights to third parties.

Hogrefe OpenMind

Information about the open access publishing program Hogrefe OpenMind, including the article processing fee and the Creative Commons license under which the article will then be published are given at www.hogrefe.com/j/apahf.

Online rights for journal articles

Guidelines on authors' rights to archive electronic versions of their manuscripts online are given in the document "Guidelines on sharing and use of articles in Hogrefe journals" on the journal's web page at www.hogrefe.com/j/apahf
